SAINT CHARLES BORROMEO SEMINARY MAGAZINE

2024 • A YEAR IN REVIEW

Campus Blessing and Dedication, October 12, 2024

Dear Alumni and Friends of Saint Charles Borromeo Seminary,

Another exciting year behind us! As you read this latest edition of The Brook, you may be thinking, like me, how quickly 2024 has flown by! I am delighted to share some of our highlights of the past year with you, assuring you that God continues to rain down His abundant blessings upon us and our mission to form missionary disciples after the heart of Jesus Christ – Catholic priests, permanent deacons, religious, and lay men and women – for various roles of apostolic ministry and service.

In the pages ahead you will read about the many, many wonderful activities and events that have occurred. You will read about our courageous young men who have stepped out in faith, responding positively to the call of the Lord to serve him as a priest. You will read about the generous men, supported by their wives and their children, who are responding to serve as a permanent deacon. Consecrated religious, as well as lay men and women also come to St. Charles to answer the prompting of the Lord to further their education and theological knowledge. Here, at the Seminary, with the help of God's grace, we work tirelessly and joyfully to form those called to ordained life as well as all those called to ministry.

St. Charles Borromeo Seminary is the “heart” of the Archdiocese of Philadelphia. More than all the activities recounted here, I hope through these pages you get a sense of the Spirit that animates our life here, and, most importantly, compels us to serve our Lord and His Church in apostolic mission.

As I write this letter in the beginning of 2025, I am also reminded of the truth that nothing in life is permanent, but the love of God is eternal! Sadly, this edition of The Brook will be my last as Rector. While bittersweet, for I so love the Seminary and its mission, I am also very grateful that Archbishop Perez has appointed Reverend Christopher Redcay as the new Rector effective July 1, 2025. Following a plan outlined by the Archbishop last year for the pastoral and administrative responsibilities of myself and my brother Auxiliary Bishops, I will assume oversight of the Archdiocese of Philadelphia's Office for Catholic Education on that same date.

Father Redcay brings much pastoral and administrative experience to this new role, and I am confident that he will be a beacon of faith and hope, guiding the seminary community towards an ever-deeper love for Christ and his Church. I just know it! I ask for your prayers for Father and for your continued prayers and support for our beloved Seminary. With utmost confidence in God's providence and with a sincerely grateful heart for all you have done and will continue to do and through the intercession of Saint Charles Borromeo, I pray that the Lord bless you in abundance!

Sincerely in Christ,

+Keith J. Chylinski

Most Reverend Keith J. Chylinski, Rector

EDITOR'S NOTE: On March 7, 2024, Bishop Keith J. Chylinski was ordained as an Auxiliary Bishop for the Archdiocese of Philadelphia. Throughout the publication, he is referred to by the title he held when the photo was taken.

Welcome New Men

August 21, 2024, marked Opening Day for the 2024-2025 year of formation at Saint Charles Borromeo Seminary. Pictured here with Bishop Chylinski and the Deans of Men and Spiritual Directors in the Refectory are the men starting their first year of formation at the Gwynedd campus. The “Humilitas” window behind them was originally in the Saint Martin of Tours Chapel on the Overbrook campus. The seminary's opening enrollment was 140 men from 14 dioceses and religious orders from across the country and around the world. More than half hail from the Archdiocese of Philadelphia.

Mass of the Holy Spirit

Thursday, August 29 was the celebration of the Mass of the Holy Spirit, which was held at St. Rose of Lima Church in North Wales, PA. Archbishop Nelson Pérez, served as the main celebrant and Bishop Chylinski delivered the homily.

This photo was taken in the Immaculate Conception Chapel on campus following Mass. This is the beginning of the seminary's 193rd year of formation. A photo similar to this is taken every year of the seminarians, faculty and staff.

New faculty and staff at the seminary also made their Profession of Faith and Oath of Fidelity during the Mass.

College Chapel Dedication

On August 26, Bishop Chylinski, priest faculty and seminarians blessed and dedicated the St. Thérèse of Lisieux Chapel. It contains altars, tabernacle, stained glass windows and pews from the Overbrook campus. This chapel was made possible by Susan Kim and her family. The seminary is grateful for their generosity. This Chapel is used by the college seminarians for daily Mass.

Immaculate Conception Chapel Dedication

The Immaculate Conception Chapel was blessed and dedicated on Sunday, September 8, by Archbishop Nelson Pérez. It is the largest chapel on campus, capable of hosting the entire seminary community. The altars, stained glass windows, pews, statues of the Virgin Mary and Saint Joseph, and the Stations of the Cross came from the Overbrook campus. The Immaculate Conception Chapel was made possible by a generous gift from Howard and Marietta Stoeckel. The seminary is truly grateful for their support.

Blessing of the Dorm Rooms

Another long-held tradition at Saint Charles Borromeo Seminary is for the Rector to bless the dorm rooms. Here, Bishop Keith Chylinski, Rector, is shown blessing the theology dormitories.

Theology Chapel Dedication

The Saint Pio of Pietrelcina Chapel was blessed and dedicated on Saturday, August 10. The Chapel contains sacred items from the Overbrook campus including stained glass windows, ambo, tabernacle, and pews. The Chapel was made possible through the philanthropy of Ward and Kathy Fitzgerald and their family. The seminary community remains deeply grateful for their generosity. The Saint Pio Chapel is used by seminarians in the Theology and Pre-Theology programs.

Vespers with Alumni Priests • OPENING REMARKS • October 11, 2024

Bishop Keith J. Chylinski, Rector

A four-year-old spilled his soda on the rug and wanted to clean up the mess himself. So his mother told him that the mop was just outside the back door. Quickly, he ran to the door, but realized that it had become dark outside. Suddenly scared, he told his mother what the problem was. Assuring him, she told him not to be afraid.... that Jesus is everywhere, even in dark places, and that he'll always protect him. This put a smile on his face! So, he hesitantly opened the door just enough to poke his head outside and called out "Jesus, if you're out there, could you pass me the mop?"

Archbishop Pérez, brother bishops and priests, St. Charles alumni all, welcome! It is a joy to be with you here before our Eucharistic Lord in our new Immaculate Conception Chapel. It is a chapel that hopefully evokes many fond memories for you, owing to the familiarity of the many sacred objects that surround us. But most importantly, we should all feel at home in this chapel because He is here! He is with us! He hasn't left us...and He never will. He goes before us to show us the way...and He scatters the darkness of our lives with the shining brilliance of his love.

As we gather together in this spirit of joy, (and personally, great relief), I have to admit that over these last couple of years, I did not always feel that way. The transfer of a seminary campus is stressful and difficult. There's no other way to describe it. And I know that Bishop Senior and all of the members of our Core team can sympathize! In particular, these last two years of overseeing a construction project while at the same time preparing to move out of the old campus have brought many opportunities to become overwhelmed, to doubt, to worry, to give up. It was hard. But like that little boy facing the darkness outside, it also became an opportunity for us to trust...to have confidence and hope...to peer out into the unknown future and discover that the same God who blessed our seminary in Overbrook, would bless us in abundance as we moved to Lower Gwynedd. And with His help, and with the help of Our Lady of the Immaculate Conception, and St. Joseph (under whose protection we consecrated this project), we experienced miracle after miracle...providence after providence... conquering all of our uncertainties with the power of his Grace. God truly loves our seminary. He loves St. Charles Borromeo Seminary.

This seminary is so dear to all of us...all who are blessed to be part of that long black line who had walked through the hallways of Mother Overbrook 5, 15, or even 50 years ago. And now, as we have been called to a new home, we as alumni are invited to rediscover the deeper reality of what St. Charles actually is. This move teaches us that the beauty of our seminary is not confined to a building, or even a campus, as important as they are. What makes St. Charles is us – our brotherhood, our fraternity, rooted in Christ. Rooted in Him! It is our striving to be good and faithful priests together – sharing in this sacred common bond that was first formed in the ups and downs and sometimes crazy moments of seminary life. From the old manuals to the White Paper, from the Papal Visits to the Vianney Cup, the minor store and the taberna, the house shows and clap outs.... the joys and the sorrows, the successes and failures....all of this was experienced together- as brothers.

And now we are together again, as brothers, praying at our new chapel and campus where those same fraternal bonds are being formed in the next generation of priests. So many good guys here. I'm so proud of them and edified by their "yes" to Christ, especially in the face of today's challenges. These new members of our St. Charles brotherhood are eager to serve the Lord and his Church. And they are desiring to "go out" and seek those who are lost and have gone astray. This missionary Spirit, so needed in today's priests, I believe will be fostered in this new incarnation of St. Charles. The architecture here even evokes this spirit, pointing to the Spanish mission churches and the beginnings of evangelization in this land. Msgr. James Shea in his book, From Christendom to Apostolic Mission, encourages us:

"At every point, the One who came as light into darkness to establish a kingdom of truth and love has been opposed by the darkness. The light continues to shine; its origin is in God himself, and the darkness cannot overcome it. But the extent of that light, the way it sheds its rays, the kind of opposition it encounters and therefore the means it uses to keep its light shining and shed its influence abroad, changes from place to place and age to age. It is therefore important for those who are members of Christ's body, who share in his divine life and so are called by him to be the light of the world to take thought for the times in which they live and to devise pastoral and evangelistic strategies suited to those times."

I believe that our new seminary is equipped to meet the challenges of today...to form men of communion, of reverence, of love, and of great zeal to go out to the ends of the earth. There are no iron fences here. Nothing to suggest that we are called to just stay within ourselves here. Rather, this campus is designed as a place of Goodness and Truth and Beauty, fully equipped to train and send men on mission. Please pray for our seminarians, and please pray that many more vocations will follow in the generations to come.

Exiit qui seminat. The sower goes out to sow the Good Seed. The Word of God – who is here in the flesh before us this evening. We praise and adore him for his goodness and his love. We praise and adore Him for the gift of our vocations, and we praise and adore Him for the gift of St. Charles. As we continue in our own journeys as brothers, may we always heed the advice of our patron: "If we wish to make any progress in the service of God we must begin every day of our life with new eagerness. We must keep ourselves in the presence of God as much as possible and have no other view or end in all our actions but the divine honor."

Behind the Scenes of St Charles Borromeo Seminary's Relocation

By Rev. Patrick Brady, Vice-Rector

If you've ever wondered what it's like to build and relocate an entire seminary, let me assure you: it's a lot like moving grandmother's antique china collection while blindfolded, during an earthquake. In other words, pure joy!

Our journey began in 2008 after the financial crisis depleted the small endowment that we had. We began with the question, "How do we assure the financial stability of the seminary and deal with decades of deferred maintenance?" That simple, pragmatic question snowballed into a multiyear epic featuring more plot twists than an Agatha Christie novel.

We began with listening sessions: faculty, staff, seminarians, School of Diaconal Formation students, School of Theological Study students, alumni — everyone had a say. It was a heady time — designing a space that fit the contemporary needs of the seminary rather than occupying buildings designed in an era when horse-drawn buggies were still a viable transportation option.

Visions were cast, sketches were drawn, and people used phrases like "formational flow" with a straight face. There would be green spaces, state-of-the-art classrooms, and dorms designed for comfort — though we quickly course-corrected when someone said they were "too nice," and we ordered the traditional Seminary Mattress™ (lumpy, but character-building!).

Naturally, these grand visions had to be tempered by budgetary realities, limited time (having sold the original property to fund the new construction), alumni nostalgia that fostered a healthy dose of skepticism, and leadership changes in the midst of it all (new archbishop, new rector — because why not keep things exciting?).

In November of 2022, we closed on the property at Gwynedd University, breaking ground in December. The occasion was marked by speeches, ceremonial shovels, a few gallons of Holy Water, and dirt — Yes, that’s right. We bought dirt for the groundbreaking. Dirt — piles of it — became the defining theme of the next few months. Construction couldn’t begin in earnest until the last students from Gwynedd had moved out of the purchased dormitory, limiting us to site work. When people drove past the site, all they saw was a giant pile of dirt and left with a pile of skepticism.

But slowly, things started to take shape. In May 2023, the rector, seminarians, and religious sisters placed miraculous medals in the foundation. In September, the community along with Archbishop Pérez and the Board of Trustees signed the beam that would be placed above the humilitas window. Things were really moving — until they weren’t.

Somehow, the windows from the original chapel were mismeasured, and the blame started ricocheting around the room like a caffeinated squirrel in a bounce house. Steel had to be reworked, schedules shuffled, a few deep breaths taken — but the project rolled on. Walls followed, as did endless debates about paint colors, and flooring materials. The roofing and windows were in place by early 2024, sealing the building off from the elements and trapping the contractors inside with us.

As we neared completion, the Chapel sub-committee — after months of prayer, debate, and one near-theological crisis over an altar — faced its greatest challenge: an exit sign. Just when it seemed we might be undone by a glowing red rectangle, a minor miracle occurred: pastors, liturgical theologians, and architects, actually agreed on a solution. Unity was achieved — proving that even amid construction dust, faith can illuminate the path out.

On July 30, 2024, we received the Temporary Certificate of Occupancy — just over two weeks before the semester started. Deliveries of furniture and art arrived in waves — some on time, some so late, it seemed like they might have stopped for lunch in every town along the way. Faculty began setting up their offices and testing the coffee machines for theological consistency. The staff, running on caffeine vapors, dove in headfirst — assembling furniture, sorting art, and occasionally wrestling with boxes that seemed to have a personal vendetta against them.

On August 18, 2024, students arrived. They toured the chapel, admired the classrooms, and beelined for the dining hall. They seemed suitably impressed (or at least relieved that they weren’t living in a construction zone).

Now, when I walk the halls, I hear voices lifted in prayer from the chapel, teachers’ wisdom from the classrooms, from the hallway the occasional seminarian sprinting to morning prayer. Was it worth it? Absolutely! The journey was not without its trials and may require a temporary institutionalization on my part — but every twist, turn, steel beam, and surprise exit sign was worth it, worth it for our seminary’s mission.

Declan Cole, III Theology, Archdiocese of Philadelphia

Seminarian Declan Cole (III Theology, Archdiocese of Philadelphia)

After arriving at the Overbrook campus in 2017, I was captivated by the artwork, the statues, and the sheer grandeur of the Philadelphia Seminary. I felt blessed and took pride in living and praying in stone buildings with high ceilings, large courtyards, and ornamented marble walls. As I wandered the corridors, I took comfort knowing that many prominent church figures, some canonized saints, worshiped in this sacred space. Early on, it was the campus itself that I correlated with the identity of Saint Charles.

As I continued to live my vocational journey for seven years in Overbrook, Jesus slowly directed my heart to the true character of the seminary. The Father draws men to there not to have them awestruck at what is around them, but to be astonished at what is inside them. The seminary began to challenge me to look inside at the impressive work of Holy Spirit, a true architect configuring me to Christ.

The mission of Saint Charles includes drawing men into this reality of being attuned to what God is doing. The professors do not only present their living faith, but they also invest themselves in our own faith journey. The priest faculty show an example that sets any heart on fire to be a holy priest. Finally, encounters with other seminarians push the soul through challenging moments and inform the soul when it is not living to its potential.

All this is to say, slowly Saint Charles faded from being a building and more into a family. Toward the end of my time there, talking about Saint Charles shifted from describing the marvels of the edifice to those inside. I could only discuss my community and the grace Jesus poured out through each one of them. In the end, when strolling the corridors I began to think instead of the skills I had been given to become someone who can change the lives of others. I then knew that Saint Charles was not a building, but a home where Mary forms her sons in the love of Her own Son.

The first day I arrived at Saint Charles in Lower Gwynedd, to my grateful astonishment, nothing felt different. My brother seminarians were still pushing me around, my formators were still stretching me into my true self, and the professors were still assigning papers (but more importantly equipping us to save souls). The schedule picked up where it left off and the life was still centered around Immaculate Conception Chapel. The Holy Spirit was hard at work, and strengthening my relationship with Jesus defined the day to day. This new campus was no different than the Saint Charles I came to appreciate.

I am not, however, too naïve to overlook the differences in the new campus. I take solace in the presence of many statues, paintings, and most notably chapel furnishings from the Overbrook campus. Praying at the foot of the same altar, sitting in the same (comfortable) wooden pews, and looking up at the same saints portrayed in vibrant stained glass windows have eased my transition here and preserved the tradition of what I knew.

Running parallel to our past, however, is the promise of newness in our future. Our location has gifted us with new opportunities for communion and evangelization with our neighbors. The smaller setting has led to more fraternity between the two houses and more interaction with the faculty and administrators. Most especially, the new buildings provide the occasion for new traditions. I am grateful and eager to join the mission of creating these traditions that will pave the way for how future seminarians experience ‘Saint Charles.’ Becoming priests, they in turn will shape the next period of life in the Church as the bond between God and His beloved faithful.

Change is written into the fabric of God’s creation, and whether it be in the abstract place of our thoughts and beliefs or the concrete place of our seminary, it is never painless. However, as a wise priest of the archdiocese often reminds me, we cannot live on memories alone. I certainly will not forget my fond memories of Overbrook, but I would be a fool to not set my face on the bright opportunities ahead. Our mother did not stay behind in Overbrook, she now dwells in Lower Gwynedd. This is Saint Charles Borromeo Seminary, and I hope that I live my vocation well and establish the new era of saints that will have once walked these novel halls.

On Saturday, October 12, the seminary celebrated the official blessing and dedication of our campus, followed by a ribbon cutting and the blessing of each of our three buildings. We were overjoyed to have Cardinal Christophe Pierre, Apostolic Nuncio to the United States, offer remarks and be present for the blessing, as well as Archbishop Nelson Pérez, Archbishop of Philadelphia, and Bishop Keith Chylinski, Rector and Auxiliary Bishop of Philadelphia. All were invited to the Student Life Center following the celebration for a reception and seminarian-led tours.

Dr. Kelly Anderson, Chair and Associate Professor, Department of Sacred Scripture

“Get out of this place, Kelly. You’re never going to make any money” (Mary Jo Anderson).

It’s impossible to express what it was like to be a newly hired faculty member at Saint Charles Seminary in Overbrook. The European-like chapels sounded with haunting, other-worldly liturgies. The library stunned me with its splendid architecture and unrivalled collection. The spacious, monastic grounds, dotted with cloisters, statues, and colonnades brought me to the brink of heaven. And (most importantly for me), I had a palatial office with my name appended outside. I felt myself mysteriously inserted into a long and august seminary tradition which far preceded me, and which would spill out long after me, and I spent the first few months awed at God’s mercy, and at my good fortune.

And yet...and yet...when I brought my family to visit Overbrook, the trenchant eyes of others saw a more pragmatic reality. The buildings were crumbling, the systems were antiquated, the windows were inefficient, offices extended everywhere, and there were too few students. Hence my mother’s verdict as she visited the seminary: “Get out of this place, Kelly. You’re never going to make any money.”

“Good-by my friend, it’s hard to die” (Terry Jacks).

But I was grateful to God for the opportunity to work at the Seminary. I love the Scriptures, fiercely and passionately, and I wanted my students, whom I also love, to be on fire with the Word of God and to bring that ardor and excitement to the people of God. As the years slipped by, my heart’s blood seeped into the walls of Overbrook, and my place in the long tradition of Saint Charles seemed marked and fixed.

And yet...and yet...it was impossible to deny that the tentacles of death were winding inexorably throughout Overbrook. They grew more deadly every year as the place slowly, slowly died. In my last two years at Overbrook, I saw chapels close, ceilings crumble, final Masses celebrated, and the Eucharist removed for the last time. And something in me crumbled and died along with the end of our beautiful seminary.

“... he broke the loaves . . . And they picked up twelve wicker baskets full of fragments” (Mark 6:41, 43).

There’s something strangely beautiful in woundedness and brokenness. From its deep crevices, something of God quietly, humbly, and yet relentlessly shines forth. And fragments and broken pieces are important to God, for he commands that each one be lovingly gathered, and carefully maintained. And with those collected fragments, he makes something new.

The mercies of the Lord are not exhausted; they are renewed every morning (Lamentations 3:22-23).

I think of the new campus as “concretized mercy.” God’s infinite mercy is the sole reason that there is a new campus, and that Saint Charles even exists at all. The quiet, dreamlike beauty of the old place has been replaced with light, energy, and youthful exuberance. The seminarians have embraced the new location with vigor, and their fresh-faces and hope give me joy and energy. As I look at the classrooms and sit in the chapel, my mind wanders to twenty, fifty, and a hundred years from now, and I imagine seminarians far down the road sitting in these seats, learning the Scriptures, and being formed to be good, holy priests for the people of God. And I am proud to be part of God’s good work for Philadelphia.

Saint Charles Borromeo, pray for us!

School of Diaconal Formation Vespers and Campus Tour

On Sunday, October 20, Permanent Deacons and their wives were given a tour of the new campus. The tour was led by Monsignor Gregory Fairbanks, Dean, School of Diaconal Formation, and Deacon Mark Dillon, adjunct faculty. The event concluded with a celebration of Vespers, led by Bishop Chylinski.

The School of Diaconal Formation – An Essential Mission of the Seminary

Monsignor Gregory J. Fairbanks, Dean, School of Diaconal Formation

I have had the honor of serving as the Dean of the School of Diaconal Formation since 2020. While I had the experience of serving with several fine permanent deacons prior to this, I have grown in appreciation of the commitment, talents and service of permanent deacons in a new way.

Upon taking on this role, Archbishop Pérez encouraged me to review other diaconal formation programs around the country. I quickly came to realize that there are as many formation programs as there are dioceses. While all the programs share a commitment to the four pillars of formation—pastoral, spiritual, intellectual and human—each diocese approaches formation from a perspective specific to its needs.

Programs are continually updated to meet the changing dynamics of the local church. There have been several major program shifts in the 40 plus years of the permanent diaconate in the Archdiocese of Philadelphia. In the current program, after a period of discernment and application, the accepted man enters six years of formation. He and his wife, if married, begin a rather rigorous schedule of formation. (Although the vast majority are married, the permanent diaconate is also open to single men.) Some wives fully participate in most parts of the process, while others choose to support their husbands in quieter ways. There are certain levels of participation for the wives requested, but exceptions are made given the needs of the couple. The one thing that is non-negotiable is the wife’s support for her husband’s discernment and involvement. The vocation to diaconate should never be a hindrance to their marriage.

The candidates are as varied as the Archdiocese. We have candidates from all five counties. Most are in their forties and fifties, although a few are a little older or younger (the minimum age for admission is 29). Most are married. More than a few have younger children at home. Education levels vary from high school diplomas to doctoral degrees. Several candidates are bilingual with native languages other than English. Proficiency in English is needed for the program, but perfection in English is not required.

The candidate meets regularly with a priest spiritual director at least four to six times a year and with an assigned deacon formation advisor about six times a year. Deacon formation advisors guide candidates through discernment and preparation during formation. There are academic classes every Monday evening for the six years, as well as homiletics classes about every other week beginning in the third semester. Candidates and wives also attend six Saturday workshops per year and an annual retreat. For three summers, he does 12 hours of service ministry with Catholic Social Services. During the last three years of formation, he is assigned six-month internships at parishes other than his home parish. These opportunities give a candidate the most varied and complete preparation to succeed in ministry.

During the final year of formation, I interview each candidate and his wife. Almost every one of them states that the length of the program was daunting when they started. The prospect of so many commitments, especially the academics, worried them, as most had not been in school for decades. Formation commitments take up time and attention which can compete with work, family and other volunteer activities. However, candidates learn to prioritize and become better at time management. Virtually every candidate says that while it was formidable, they cannot imagine the program being any shorter or cutting out any major component. They feel well prepared for the ministry that awaits them.

I am always impressed by the dedication and generosity of the candidates in their willingness to serve, be formed, and prepare for ministry. The candidates, their wives, and often their families all make sacrifices and do so with a spirit of selflessness. Although some frustration is only natural, the bulk of the time is found in joy and growth. They give me hope for the Church’s future. They are gifts for all of us.

In January, Theology III seminarians traveled along with Monsignor Michael Magee and some recently ordained priests to Milan, Assisi and Rome, Italy. While they were in Rome, the group had the great fortune to see Pope Francis on their pilgrimage and remarked it was an unforgettable experience.

Krol Chair Lecture

The John Cardinal Krol Chair of Moral Theology sponsored a lecture both in-person and virtually titled "Wisdom and Innocence: A Life of G.K. Chesterton with Joseph Pearce." Pictured here are Dr. John Haas, Cardinal Krol Chair of Moral Theology, and Joseph Pearce. The lecture was very well received and brought to our immediate attention the tremendous gift of the life of Gilbert Keith.

Inside the School of Theological Studies

In August, St. Charles welcomed Dr. Carmina Chapp as the new Dean of the School of Theological Studies, taking the reins from Msgr. Michael Magee when he had been named Vice President of Academic Affairs for the Seminary. This is a return to St. Charles for Chapp, who left her role as Academic Dean of what was then called the Religious Studies Division (RSD) back in 2010. She is excited to be back and is ready to take the division to the next level.

The School of Theological Studies continues to serve the non-seminarian population at St. Charles Borromeo Seminary, including providing the intellectual formation for the permanent diaconate program. The Master of Arts in Theology has been a mainstay of the division since its founding in 1969, and religious sisters still take over the campus during Summer Session. Catechists and Catholic school teachers are formed through the Catechetical Institute, a non-credit online program, while the Institute for Christian Formation offers in-person adult faith formation programs. With a desire to work more closely with the offices of the Archdiocese (and other dioceses, particularly those who send men for priestly formation) to provide education and faith formation that serves the needs of the faithful and is accessible to as many people as possible, Chapp hopes to take each of these programs and expand their offerings to accommodate these needs.

Having spent ten years in online education, Chapp is ready to complete the development of the online Master of Arts in Theology program begun by her predecessor and make it competitive in the online Catholic marketplace. She is also seeking out partnerships for the development of new graduate programs in the areas of Catholic education, health care, and business. With online capabilities, the St. Charles experience can be made available across the country, and across the world.

The Summer Session, which harkens back to the origins of the division, continues to cater to those in religious congregations, providing graduate courses in an environment conducive to the rhythms of religious life. A new generation of religious is ready for graduate study, and the School of Theological Studies is ready to recruit and welcome them.

The Catechetical Institute is the vehicle for the online delivery of non-credit programming. At present, it consists of eight courses that cover basic catechesis, but there is much potential for growth beyond the catechetical material — from catechist training in pedagogy to reading groups to spiritual formation. Many online Catholic formation programs exist, so the challenge is to create something different and better. The School of Theological Studies will strive to create an online experience always with a personal element, with a live instructor present in the courses, never leaving the participant solely on his or her own.

Though online technology offers tremendous possibility for growth, the School of Theological Studies will not abandon the traditional face-to-face option.

The Institute for Christian Formation is the in-person experience of adult faith formation, with classes on the campus of St. Charles Borromeo Seminary and elsewhere. Its flagship program is Foundations of the Catholic Faith: Journey through the Catechism, a two-year process of engaging the Catechism of the Catholic Church, held on the campus of St. Charles Borromeo Seminary. But location need not be limited to the Seminary. Programs can be hosted at parishes, as the Office for Black Catholics does in offering its Sr. Bea Jeffries, SBS, Black Catholic Formation Program through the ICF at parishes local to the Black Catholic community. Working with the various Archdiocesan offices will help determine the expansion of content and locations for programs.

The School of Theological Studies recently received a grant from the Lilly Endowment to research the needs of pastoral leaders. Pastors from around the Archdiocese participated in focus groups and an online survey, offering ideas for programming that would benefit themselves as pastors, their parish staff, and their parishioners, young and old. The results were very insightful and will help to direct the strategic planning of the division for years to come.

The future of the School of Theological Studies is bright!

The camp helps men discover God's plan for their lives while creating lifelong friendships. Participants also experience what it is like to be a Philadelphia seminarian. This year the camp follows the theme of "Anchor of the Soul," where men will learn how Christ is the hope and anchor throughout the storms of life. We hope you will join us or if you know someone who might be discerning a call, the event this year is from Monday, June 23 to Thursday, June 26!

We extend our deepest gratitude to the members of the Committees and the Board of Trustees for their dedicated service and unwavering commitment. Your guidance, wisdom, and generosity of spirit have been invaluable in supporting our mission and vision. Thank you for your tireless work and faithful service. You are a true blessing to our seminary community!

As we reflect on the year 2024, we are filled with profound gratitude for the incredible generosity shown by our many donors. Whether through contributions in response to appeals, participation in events like our golf tournament, or through other direct giving, each gift has made a lasting impact on the life of our Seminary and its mission.

Your unwavering support helps us continue to form the future leaders of our Church, providing them with the education, faith, and inspiration they need to serve with love and commitment. No matter how you gave, your generosity has touched lives, strengthened our community, and supported the ongoing work of scholarly education and faith formation for future priests, deacons, religious, and lay men and women.

We are deeply grateful for your partnership and dedication to the Seminary. May God bless you abundantly for your kindness because through your giving our success becomes your success and the lives we touch, become an enduring living witness to your love of God and neighbor.

2024 Priest Alumni Benefactors

We extend our deepest gratitude to our priest alumni who have so generously supported the Seminary. Your contributions — whether through financial gifts, time, or prayer — have made a profound difference in continuing the formation of future priests.

Your support not only strengthens our seminary but also ensures that the next generation of priests receives the same nurturing and supportive environment that helped shape your vocation. Your gifts help us enhance the human, pastoral, spiritual and intellectual experience of our seminarians.

We are blessed to count you as members of our Seminary family, and we thank God for your continued generosity. May He bless you abundantly as you have blessed us!

What's in a Name? Changing the Name of Saint Charles Borromeo Seminary Magazine from The Brook to Humilitas

Why the Name Change?

The name The Brook evoked a sense of peacefulness and reflection, rooted in the physical environment of the old Seminary. However, as the Seminary's leadership reflected on the evolving role of the institution and its relationship with the broader Church, it became clear that the name Humilitas more deeply reflected the values and mission of the Seminary without linking it to a location.

A seminary is not just a place of academic learning but a place of formation—spiritually, pastorally, humanly, and intellectually. The change in name to Humilitas symbolizes a commitment to formation grounded in humility, the ability to serve others, and a dedication to the mission of the Church. This is particularly relevant considering the Seminary's role in preparing men for the priesthood and permanent diaconate, where humility is essential for pastoral care, leadership, and service to God's people.

Moreover, the rebranding comes at a time when the Seminary is further developing its outreach to its alumni and the wider community. The name Humilitas reflects a more global, universal vision of the Seminary's role in nurturing future leaders in the Church who are committed to serving with humility and grace.

The New Direction

With the introduction of Humilitas, the magazine will continue to fulfill our original purpose of informing and inspiring its readers. However, the new name suggests an expanded vision, one that integrates the Seminary's academic achievements with its spiritual mission. Future issues of Humilitas will feature not only news about the Seminary's students and faculty but also reflections on how humility plays a key role in the formation of a priest and permanent deacon, as well as stories about alumni living out the values of humility in their ministry and professional lives.

The magazine will also delve deeper into topics of personal growth, moral formation, and the role of humility in leadership. It will aim to foster a sense of community among current students, alumni, faculty, and supporters by highlighting the common thread of humility that binds them all together in their shared mission of service to the Church.

Moving Forward

The transition from The Brook to Humilitas will commence with the next edition as we reflect on our first full year in our new location. It is a meaningful and intentional decision for Saint Charles Borromeo Seminary. It is a reflection of the Seminary's evolving vision and a testament to its commitment to producing priests, permanent deacons and leaders who embody humility in their service to the Church. By aligning the magazine's identity with this core value, the Seminary is reinforcing its ongoing mission to prepare future priests, permanent deacons, religious and lay leaders to meet the challenges of today's world with humility, grace, and faithfulness.

As Humilitas debuts in its new form next year, it will offer not just an update to the Seminary's communication efforts but a reminder of the eternal truths that lie at the heart of Christian ministry. Just as the Seminary itself continues to grow and evolve, Humilitas will serve as a continuing source of inspiration, inviting its readers to reflect on the humble service that is at the heart of the universal call to holiness and the life of faith.

Saint Charles Borromeo pray for us!

Saint Charles Borromeo Seminary, whose most recent location was in Wynnewood, Pennsylvania, has been a significant center for Catholic education and priestly formation for close to 200 years. A key part of the Seminary's outreach to its community has been its annual magazine, which serves as a window into the life of the Seminary, its faculty, students, and alumni. Historically known as The Brook, the Seminary's magazine will soon undergo a rebranding, adopting a new name: Humilitas. This change reflects that the Seminary is no longer near Overbrook requiring a shift in the publication's identity and the move provided an opportunity to more deeply align the name with the values and mission of the seminary itself.

A Brief History of The Brook

The title, The Brook, was inspired by the Seminary's setting in Wynnewood which is adjacent to the Overbrook neighborhood of Philadelphia. The neighborhood gets its name from Overbrook station, where the tracks run “over the brook” of Mill Creek, one of two creeks that run through the neighborhood. Mill Creek enters a culvert in Montgomery County close to the station and flows underground through the center of the neighborhood and beyond before emptying into the Schuylkill River. The Brook came to symbolize the flow of knowledge, wisdom, and grace that comes from this place of formation.

Over the years, the magazine chronicled the stories of the Seminary's growth, faculty achievements, seminarians' journeys, and the wider community's involvement in the life of the Seminary. It became a cherished publication, especially for alumni and supporters of the Seminary, who used it to stay connected with the institution's mission.

In 2024, the Seminary moved to our present beautiful campus in Lower Gwynedd. With the move, the leadership team at Saint Charles Borromeo Seminary felt the need to reimagine how we communicate our mission and vision and to a wider audience. This led to the decision to change the name of the magazine—a move intended to encapsulate the Seminary's focus on humility and service, values that are central to the Seminary's identity.

The Significance of Humilitas

The name Humilitas was chosen deliberately because it was the motto of Saint Charles Borromeo. “Humilitas,” reflects his deep commitment to humility and service. As a cardinal and reformer, he embodied this virtue by living a life of simplicity, dedicating himself to the care of the poor and the reform of the clergy. His motto serves as a reminder of the power of humility in serving others and in leading with compassion and integrity.

“Humilitas” encapsulates the core principles of the Seminary's mission and the Christian life as a whole. In the Catholic tradition, humility is not just a virtue, but an essential characteristic of Christ-like leadership and priestly ministry. Humility is the foundation for growth in holiness, the key to building meaningful relationships within the Church, and the root of the seminarian's vocation to serve others.

The word Humilitas itself is Latin, drawing from the same linguistic roots as humility. It connects the modern Seminary's mission to Saint Charles Borromeo directly with the deep well of tradition from which it draws. Humility is understood not as self-deprecation but as an honest understanding of one's place in the world, a recognition of God's greatness, and an awareness of the need to serve others. By embracing this name, the Seminary's magazine emphasizes the essential virtue that guides its students, faculty, and alumni in their work both within and outside the Seminary.
